DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Election/Restrictions

2. Applicant's election with traverse of claims 1-27, 74-98, 179-198, and 239-258 in the reply filed on 11/13/2006 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the claims relate to similar subject matter because they involve providing hair tinting information and features relating to hair tinting. This is not found persuasive because the method to determine the hair-tinting product is carried out using different pieces of information to arrive at a final conclusion.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 4 – 5, 26, 77 – 78, 97, 189, and 249 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. The term "best" in claims 4 – 5 and 77 – 78 is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "best" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention. What are the criteria to determine what is "best"? Moreover, how can something be deemed the "best" when others may have another point of view of what is the "best"?

6. The term "substantially entirely" in claims 26, 97, 189, and 249 is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "substantially entirely" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention. Is the whole method covered at the point of sale? How much of the method is not covered? How can a something be substantially entirely done?

7. The term "substantially" in claims 190 and 250 is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "substantially" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention. How much is substantially? How much of the apparatus is really stand-alone?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

9. Claims 1 – 6, 8, 10 – 27, 74 – 81, 83 – 98, 179 – 186, 189 – 190, 192, 194 – 198, 239 – 246, 247, 249 – 250, 252, 254 – 258 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Marapane (US PGPub 2002/0010556 A1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

46. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

47. Claims 7, 9, 82, 187 – 188, 247 – 248, 191, 193, 251, and 253 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marapane et al. (US PGPub 2002/0010556 A1).

48. In regard to claims 9 and 82, Marapane discloses that the method is carried out on a network, but fails to explicitly disclose the internet. However, it is old and well known that the internet is also a network. Moreover, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art using the teachings of Marapane that the method can also be carried out anywhere (Page 2 ¶ 29), including the internet, in order to avoid a large gathering of people waiting within a salon, for example.

49. In regards to claim 17, Marapane discloses receiving second information includes receiving the desired duration of hair tinting (wherein it would be obvious when a customer selects a hair dying product it would include the type of dye, i.e. temporary, semi-permanent, and permanent).

50. In regard to claims 187 and 247, Marapane discloses an image acquisition device for capturing an image of the subject for displaying on the display (Page 1 ¶ 10 in which it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art that an image acquisition device would be required in order to carryout the method disclosed by Marapane).

51. In regard to claims 188 and 248, Marapane discloses wherein said image acquisition device comprises a camera (Page 1 ¶ 10 in which it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art that an image acquisition device would be required in order to carryout the method disclosed by Marapane, further still, it would have been also obvious that a camera would be an image acquisition device).

52. In regards to claims 191 and 251, Marapane discloses that the method can be carried out in a salon wherein it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art that salons have mirrors.

53. In regard to claims 193 and 253, Marapane discloses wherein the at least one swatch sampler includes a sampler of colored swatches comprising shade colors of black, brown, dark chestnut, chestnut, pale chestnut, dark blonde, blonde, light blonde, very light blonde, and lightest blonde (Page 4 ¶ 41 moreover the various shades disclosed does not affect the function of the invention).
